(The following was received by President-Elect Elmer H. Nagel)

U. S. S. Rixey, c/o Fleet Post Office, San Francisco, Cal.

Dear Elmer:—

Thank you for your letter of Dec. 15th—it was a pleasure to hear from you and I congratulate you on your election as President-Elect of the Society. It is an honor that is due you and I am sure the many responsibilities that come with the office will be handled much better than if I were there.

Naturally I wish you to have a most successful year and if it were possible for me to make any suggestions of a constructive nature would be more than glad to do so. We both know that being so far from the center of activity that any thing I might say would be superfluous—I just hope that every one will “pitch in” and help you, as they have others in the past and then nothing can keep you from doing a good job.

I wrote Norris some time ago and I suppose he might have mentioned it to some of you in Council. There is nothing of great importance to write relative to my change in status since then. Have enjoyed the Bulletin as it keeps me posted on the happenings of the Society.

Not so long ago had a letter from Odom, also one from Keyes. Both were well and apparently very happy. Believe their assignments are most pleasant and should be considered in the preferred class, however, would not want to trade with them.

Please thank the Sisters, doctors and nurses for the card from St. Elizabeth's Hospital with the dozens of names on it. We read them several times and certainly appreciated it. We received numerous cards from our friends at Christmas time but due to being moved around so much just before Christmas did not get to follow our usual practice of sending cards.

Let me hear from you when you can find the time to write. Again I extend congratulations and wish you and the Society the smoothest sailing possible during this difficult period—I am,

Sincerely yours,

BILL.

January Meeting Success

Dr. Wagner spoke to us last month as scheduled. His address was the obvious outgrowth of great experience and careful observation.

The weather, fierce as it was, could not stop him nor his enthusiastic audience. Dr. Wagner is too busy to write his address,—so it will not be possible to print it, as we had hoped to do. Our Society, however, acknowledges a debt of gratitude for his sacrificial devotion to good medicine, as revealed by his being here to deliver a valuable and appreciated paper.

Dr. Bunn's Program Committee has practically a full schedule ahead for us. One must know if one knows Dr. Bunn, that the offerings will continue to be very good indeed.

Medicine—Our Way!

"When we Americans cease to live for the future, then will the heartwood be dead."

"If you think we have reached our last frontier, then the course of the nation is run."

"If we are afraid to set forth where there is no precedent to smooth the way for us, then we are not worthy of the men and women who went where there was no path."

"But there still rise up, among the rest of us, a few who can perceive shining mountains yet unexplored."

(Read, "Forward the Nation," by D. C. Peattie, and you'll find the sentences just quoted.)

Shortly ago this happened. A farmer was entirely out of oil and coal. A neighbor, knowing his friend's predicament, called him and asked him to bring his family over to HIS house. The farmer didn't understand, seemed amazed. "Why?" he asked. "Aren't you cold?" the neighbor asked. "Why, no," replied the farmer,—"we got together here in our neighborhood and cut enough wood to take care of our own needs."

Since before the birth of this nation, our people have known that men of medicine perforce have had to live for the future in order to make effective their work with the present. They have lived perpetually on frontiers. Nothing has satisfied their innately restless spirits save quest for adventure. Not purposeless, nor reckless daring, but seeking for a definite known goal. Sometimes it was to find causes, sometimes methods, often both. Seldom have there been accidental discoveries, and these only seemingly so. They were not being focused upon at the time.

Diabetes, typhoid, small pox, diphtheria, rabies, yellow fever, syphilis, and dozens more, now conquered, or rapidly yielding to control, gave battle and surrendered to men and women who were not afraid to set forth over unmarked territory, there to place a safe new way. They could see shining mountains unexplored.

These benefactors of mankind, like the farmer, lacked comforts, but, self-reliant, they pooled their powers with kindred souls,—and sought nobody's help. They, joining forces, have "cut their own wood."

Correct faults, of course. But why destroy those fruits of toil, imagination, and sacrifice that are forever the essential ingredients of a noble profession,—of a people worthy of this great nation?

SUNSHINE FORTIFIED VITAMIN D MILK

The Council on Foods of the American Medical Association states: "...Indeed, Vitamin D milk possibly has a greater usefulness for the child than for the infant because of the larger proportion of children than of infants who do not receive Vitamin D from special sources." The growing child's need for calcium and Vitamin D reaches its maximum at the approximate age of 16. Children should drink at least a quart of Vitamin D milk daily to meet this important requirement.

Each quart of Isaly's Vitamin D milk contains 400 U.S.P. Vitamin D units, the same as found in 1¼ teaspoonfuls of U.S.P. cod liver oil.

THE THERAPY OF PULMONARY IRRITANT GASES

M. A. Blankenhorn, M. D., Cincinnati, Ohio

(This is the last of three papers delivered to the Society Oct. 20, 1942.)

Pulmonary irritation due to war gases causes pulmonary edema which may be rapidly fatal or may result in delayed effects which may have severe sequelae or fatal termination. The severity of these effects will depend in part on the nature of the gas, the length of time of exposure and the amount of dosage. Saturation in the air and the toxicity determine these effects. The dosage may be lethal if the gas is imperceptible. There are no specifics or antidotes for pulmonary irritation so produced. Symptomatic treatment only is available.

The first signs of suffocating pulmonary edema are the cyanosis and dyspnea which result from anoxemia. In addition, gassed patients may show acute pulmonary emphysema, perhaps bronchial spasm, hemoconcentration, heart failure, shock and myocardial damage. For these several conditions no satisfactory treatment is recommended, but some are proposed for trial. Continuous inhalation of oxygen by nasal catheter is proposed because of its application to large numbers of patients. Oxygen under slight positive pressure regulated by a special mask may be more effective, but the care required limits its usefulness. Intravenous aminophylline in glucose solution is suggested for trial when bronchial obstruction is severe, as in acute asthma. Intravenous plasmas is suggested for trial to decrease hemoconcentration, and venesection is proposed for high venous pressure to relieve severe engorgement and orthopnea. General measures were mentioned to augment the treatment of shock in gassed patients; these were the use of plasma and pare-drinol and sedatives only when there was great restlessness and activity.

The general medical management of these patients should be directed toward the relief of the acute symptoms and also toward the prevention of the secondary effects of gassing, such as tracheitis, bronchitis, pneumonia and pleural effusion, which can quickly appear if the patients survive 72 hours following exposure. Measures such as postural drainage, tracheal aspiration, and the judicious use of sulfonamides must all be considered, as used in the treatment of bronchopneumonia.

Following exposure, complete bed-rest must be enforced even in the mildest cases. This is essential because any activity, even the sitting posture, increases the need for oxygen. The prone position should also be maintained during transportation. In severe cases this bed-rest must be enforced longer with the consideration that damage to the myocardium may have occurred. Electrocardiograms would be needed to aid in this diagnosis.

For civilian defense training should be given to non-medical officers to find and collect cases. Such gas officers can distinguish between the cases of gassing requiring the physician's treatment and frightened people who should be diverted from hospitals and aid stations.

The prognosis can generally be decided after 72 hours unless complications of secondary infection develop. The convalescence of uncomplicated cases is determined by the probable damage to the myocardium.

Capt. George Likes to Get Bulletin!

Camp Gordon, Ga.
Jan. 2, 1943

Dear Miss Herald:

Just a line to express my sincere thanks to the Mahoning County Medical Society for including my name on the mailing list for the Bulletin.

I appreciated reading of the whereabouts of many of the men with whom I was acquainted while interning at St. Elizabeth's Hospital.

From your "Honor Roll" of December, I see where the Medical and Dental Professions of Mahoning County are represented at military and naval installations in 26 states, in Honolulu, and the British West Indies. No doubt the six addressed at Ports of Embarkation are scattered to all points of the compass. May they all victoriously return to carry on where they left off.

Giddap, Jeepy!

Ft. Bliss, Texas
Jan. 10, 1943

Dear Dr. Norris:

This is to let you know that I have been in the Army since Sept., 1942. After a period of inoculation, vaccination and feet hardening at Camp Berkeley, Texas, I was transferred to the 3rd Reconnaissance Squadron which is a part of the first Cavalry Division.

It was quite an education but rather disappointing in other ways. Our unit is comprised of jeeps, scout cars and 15 ton tanks. Why it is a part of the Cavalry I cannot tell you. One thing I do know is that I never knew acetophenedin would "cure" so many diseases.

I would appreciate having the Bulletin sent to Fort Bliss as I've enjoyed every issue.

Lt. J. M. Gledhill

Thanks for the Invitation, Jimmy!

Camp Perry, Va.
January 18th, 1943

Dear Claude:

Just received my January Bulletin and want to congratulate the Society for having you as Editor again. You cannot imagine how the Bulletin is appreciated by the men who are away from home.

So far as I can tell, I am the only doctor from Youngstown serving with the Sea Bees. Gillette and Gieringer are here from Toledo and Irby from Kansas says he went to school with Altdoerffer in Chicago.

The Sea Bees are a tough bunch and you are going to hear a lot about them before this scrap is over. They are mostly skilled workmen and the average age is 34 years. At present I am working on the Survey Board which examines and weeds out the weak and unfit. There are a few that can't stand the rigorous training and have to be sent home. Nearly all have enlisted for patriotic reasons and are anxious to fight.

Our new 800 bed hospital opens this week. When I mention new hospital, don't think of the North Side Unit. Like every other building on the reservation it is constructed of low frame units 100x20 ft., covered with tarpaper. The size and shape of the buildings depend on the number of units used and how they are joined together. The hospital comprises 16 buildings of 2 to 8 units each, sprawled over 5 acres and connected by covered runways. The place is feverish with activity. We work with carpenters pounding and sawing and every so often the painters chase us out of our offices to shellac the floors.

There is a very fine group of officers here and it is interesting to meet doctors from all over the country. They all talk the same language and shovel the same line. I guess doctors are all the same no matter what kind of a suit or uniform they wear.

I have been showing the Bulletin around and doing my share of the bragging. Enjoyed Lou Deitchman's letter in the December issue so much. Keep him writing and keep the Bulletins coming.

Best regards to Mrs. Norris and Philip. You ought to be able to get over here from your plantation and visit me. That's an invitation.

Lt. Comm. J. L. Fisher.

Joe's at Work!

Buckley Field, Colo.
January 9th, 1943

Dear Miss Herald:

First of all a Happy and Prosperous New Year to you and the entire Medical Society.

Honestly I've enjoyed reading every Medical Bulletin sent to me so please keep on sending them.

I have been on detached service to Buckley Field, Colorado, and am leaving the field to go back to Patterson Field, Colorado Springs, Colo., tonight. Six of us medicos were here helping out in the hospital for thirty days.

The name of Colorado Springs Air Base has been changed to Peterson Field.

Lou Deitchman Paged Again!

Postmaster, San Francisco, Calif.
January 17th, 1943

Dear Miss Herald:

I am sending you this letter to let you know that my address is to be changed. I want to continue to receive the Bulletin for I enjoy it very much. My new address is as follows: Lt. G. E. DeCicco, 532 Regiment, Med. Det., A. P. O. 3383, c/o Postmaster, San Francisco, Cal.

The letters in the Bulletin from the various physicians were very interesting. I especially enjoyed the one from Lou Deitchman from barren Chicago. He certainly has a knack at humorous writing.

Remember me to the folks in the Bureau. After my change of station I'll try to write you a letter about my activities.

Lt. G. E. DeCicco.

Lt. List Tells Ike Waltonites What They're Missing!

c/o Fleet P. O., San Francisco, Cal.
Jan. 11, 1943

Dear Dr. Norris:

I am receiving the Bulletin and look forward to it each month as I would a letter from home.

There is very little I can write from this station. I am a senior medico with a Sea Bee outfit and enjoy my work. I have a nice dispensary and sick bay—like being a general practitioner only I don't have to get up nights to race the stock.

The salmon and trout fishing was very good last fall. They say the spring trout fishing is the best in the world. During the salmon run in the fall they actually block some of the streams. We had some fine salmon steaks and smoked salmon which goes good with beer when one has the beer.

Best of luck to all of you back home and the ones in the service.

I am sending my regular address which will be the same no matter where the unit goes. Navy 8070, c/o Fleet Post Office, San Francisco, Cal.

Lt. Comm. E. W. List.

Lt. Barclay Full of News!

593rd E.A.R., Camp Carrabelle, Fla.
Tues., Jan. 12, 1943

Dear Miss Herald:

Had planned to write you on numerous occasions lately, but as you know

I did not get at it. It is fine to receive the Bulletin and I enjoy reading of the activities of the Society and of the experiences of the many other Youngstown physicians in the armed services throughout the country. Thanks a lot.

E.A.R. stands for Engineer Amphibian Regiment and our chief function is to ferry fighting units such as the infantry with their equipment from ship to shore. You have seen pictures of the amphibian landing boats in various magazines and in the newsreels. That is the kind of boats with which we work, and medical officers as well as the line officers have to know how to run them and how they are run mechanically speaking. We also have to know semaphore and the morse code. Quite a liberal education with the nautical terminology, boxing the compass, charting a course at sea, taking into consideration tides and currents. We often wonder at times whether we're in the army or navy or the marines.

The 593rd E.A.R. received their early training at Camp Edwards, Mass., on Cape Cod, but when those typical New England winters began with their snow and cold winds we were transferred here. It sounds great to say, "we spent the summer and fall on Cape Cod and the winter in Florida." (But I still would rather be in Ohio).

At present we are a training regiment, schooling various infantry divisions, and since the 1st of December we have been training the 38th Division to which Dr. Densmore Thomas and Lt. Kenneth Camp are assigned. Have seen Denny Thomas on several occasions but Lt. Camp only once. Capt. Sears is now stationed at Camp Tucker, Alabama, and living with his wife and family at Dothan, Alabama. Last Sunday Mrs. Brandmiller and I drove to Wakulla Springs and Capt. and Mrs. Sears and their two children met us there, where we had a splendid time exchanging opinions as to army life and news of our former colleagues. Wakulla Springs is a large natural park not far from Tallahassee where most of the Tarzan pictures are made. Lt. DeCicco was here at Camp Carrabelle for about three weeks but was transferred to California. Do you know of any other medical officers from Youngstown located near enough for a get together?

Thank you again for always sending the Bulletin and although I may forget to send you the new address the Bulletin has always caught up with me, and I will attempt to keep you better informed as to any future moves because I do not want to miss a single issue.

Lt. Barclay M. Brandmiller.

ST. ELIZABETH'S HOSPITAL ANNUAL REPORT—1942

In common with all hospitals in the United States, St. Elizabeth again reports an increase in services to the public. Our bed capacity of December 31 is 296 beds and 70 bassinets. During the year we extended services to 123,600 patients, an increase of 982 over the figures of 1941. There were 120,411 patient days care rendered with an average day of 8.1 for each patient. Of the total number admitted there were 2,153 babies born in the hospital. This is an increase of 317 over the previous year.

We believe that the figures quoted below, show the part that Group Hospitalization has played in developing the use of hospital, is most interesting.

Number of patients admitted 12,360
Number of Associated service patients admitted 2,507

Percent of Associated patients 20.3

Group other than Associated service 3718, a total number of both 6,225. Percentage of all groups 51.2.

Accident Rooms

There were 2657 patients treated in the accident rooms in 1942 and 3397 patients in 1941.

Out-Patient Department

There were 3120 visits to the Out-Patient Department in 1942 and 3666 visits for the previous year.

In the care for patients admitted to the hospital, the various departments report as follows:

Surgery

There were 4097 operations in 1942 compared with the figure of 4330 for 1941.

Clinical Laboratory

There were 53,365 laboratory tests made in 1942 compared with the figure of 50,023 for 1941.

Physiotherapy

There were 5,647 treatments given in 1942 compared with the figure of 6,264 for 1941.

Dietary Department

There were 1,306 meals served every day (average).

Sewing Room

The report from the Sewing Room shows the following:

New Sewing 9,083
(Donated Service-Sewing Ladies 5270)

Mended 22,720
(Donated Service-Sewing Ladies 902)

YOUNGSTOWN HOSPITAL ANNUAL REPORT—1942

Statistics

The number of patients admitted to the hospital during 1942 totaled 18,299, an increase of 13% over the year 1941. This increase is not as large as that of the previous two years. The capacity of the Hospital is 567 beds and we averaged 485 occupied per day, although some departments—such as the Maternity Department — were overcrowded much of the time we had other departments that were not being operated to capacity—such as the Children's Department and the Rotary Home, whose beds are included in this total of 567. As usual, the lowest number of patients occurred on the day before Christmas, and it is interesting to note that the range between the lowest and the highest number of patients in 1942 was 200, that being within two of the figure for 1941. The average length of stay of a patient in the hospital dropped .3 of a day, this drop being represented in a .5 of a day decline in South Unit while North Unit remained exactly the same. The average for both Units is 9.5 days.

The total number of in-patient days for the year 1942 was 177,180. In analyzing this figure we find that the Medical days total 42,177, Surgical days 85,120, and Obstetrical days 49,783. The work in the

The B-Complex (containing 3 mg. of B-1 to the capsule) as the long-range reconstructive is amplified by 3 grains of ferrous sulphate and 7 grains of liver concentrate for quick, warm, blood-enriching, action.

This combination of speedy relief with the tried, thorough action of B-Complex is a fine preparation in convenient capsule form, to be administered three times daily.

Formerly Chief Physician, State Hospital for Insane, Norristown, Pa.

Medical Department increased 5%; in the Surgical Department 3%; while the work in the Obstetrical Department increased 38%, a total of 2,743 babies having been born in the hospital during the year 1942. Again we note that the greatest increase has been in the Obstetrical Department of the Hospital, and because of the usual fluctuations that occur in the daily census of this Department the sun parlors on each floor had to be pressed into use and both Nurseries enlarged.

In order to obtain some idea as to how this volume of work was divided between the two units of the hospital, the following analysis has been prepared: Medical work at South Unit increased approximately 10%, Surgical work $4\frac{1}{2}\%$, and Obstetrical work 8%. At North Unit, Medical work decreased 2%, Surgical work decreased 1%, while the Obstetrical work increased 42%.

The X-Ray Department served 6,261 of the 18,299 patients admitted to the hospital as in-patients; the Laboratory performed 79,781 examinations on these patients, and the Physiotherapy Department gave 6,259 treatments to these hospitalized patients.

Ambulatory Patients

The various departments of the hospital also served a large number of ambulatory patients; for instance, the X-Ray Dept. served 8,279 patients—again in excess of the number that were served as in-patients. The Laboratory ran 3,206 treatments on ambulatory patients, and the Physiotherapy Department gave 5,591 treatments to persons not in-patients of the hospital.

Miscellaneous Departments

The Emergency Department took care of 7,162 individuals, 5,266 being ambulatory patients not admitted to the hospital.

The Out Patient Department had 5,354 visits during the year 1942, as compared with 8,010 visits during 1941 and 9,145 in 1940. From these figures it can be seen that the work of this Department is steadily declining, due to the high rate of employment in all lines of industry.

The Fever Therapy Department gave 314 treatments, totaling 855 hours, to 42 patients. The Technician in this department also assists in the Physiotherapy Department. At the present time one of the Physiotherapists is in Minneapolis attending the school operated by Sister Kenny for the treatment of infantile paralysis victims. Upon completion of her course she plans to return and conduct classes here in Youngstown for the training of nurses and physiotherapists in the Sister Kenny method. The expense incurred in taking this course at Minneapolis is being defrayed by the Mahoning County Chapter for Infantile Paralysis.

Hospitalization

Because of the widespread interest of the general public in various forms of hospitalization plans, I should like to analyze the income to the Hospital that these various plans produce, in relation to the total income of the Hospital. The hospitalization plans dealing directly with the hospital produced 42% of the total income for 1942, exclusive of X-Ray; and our own Associated Hospital Service plan accounted for 26% of that total. At the North Unit 52% of the total income, exclusive of X-Ray, was produced from service to contract holders of the above mentioned plans; and at South Unit 32% of the total income, exclusive of X-Ray, came from the same source.

A comparison of these figures with the year 1941 reveals that 40% of the total income, exclusive of X-Ray, was received from hospitalization plans—or that the year 1942 produced a 2% increase in this income ratio. The comparative figures at North Unit is 48% for 1941 as against 52% for 1942, while at South Unit the figure remained the same, at 32%.

DINOSAURS

Master of primeval flesh and bone,
 Dead these sixty million years at least!
 You must have been a foe of every beast,
 Of everything that crawled: this fang alone,
 Its sharp point worn, though still as hard as stone,
 Proves you were pitiless, that you would feast
 On other forms. Yes, all your kind have ceased;
 And only those who aped your ways have grown
 To transient mastery. Why name the list:
 The little ones who rose and had their day
 To bathe their world in sweat and blood and tears?
 If we omit one name, it is not missed;
 But you were Rex, with undisputed sway,
 An age, one hundred-forty million years!

The Physician and Culture

Editorial, Bulletin Passaic (N. J.) County Medical Society

These are days that are being written in blood and madness. Civilization staggers and moans under the reverberating blows of a "new world order." The fruits of the French Revolution are gradually being destroyed by a group of swaggering barbarians. The United Nations are struggling with ever increasing force to obliterate these monsters who want to enslave all free men and destroy all free thought.

In these hours of darkness and doom, the physician should be a beacon to mankind. He should use his own cultural background to give solace to his fellow men. He should train himself in the humanities, in music, fine arts, literature and philosophy, so that he can carry with him the fruits of our culture to the sick room, to the maimed and the dying. He should develop his own cultural background so that his moments of weariness shall be lightened by the finest products of the human soul. For by enriching himself with beauty and wisdom, he produces a psychic chemistry that gives zest and courage to the lives around him.

But it should be remembered that ours is one of the oldest arts known to history. The physician from antediluvian times represented the highest culture. Osler, Allbutt, Welch and Cushing are modern representatives of the artist-scientist. They brought to the sick room not only the most complicated scientific knowledge, but the beauty of their own souls. Their culture enriched their humanity and their humanity enriched the world.
